

BOY SCOUT NOTES

A short time ago a list of the occupations of the various scouts was published. We wonder if every scout in Tulsa knows where each troop has its headquarters. Here is the list: Troops 1, 2 and 3 at the First Presbyterian church; troops 4 at the Second Presbyterian; troop 5, First M. E.; troop 6, West Tulsa; troop 7, Holy Family Catholic church; troop 8, Grace M. E. church; troop 9, Kendall; 10, First Baptist church; troop 11, not known; troop 12, 13, 14, Avenue A; 15, church south; troop 13, Tiger Memorial; troop 14, at Mark Twain school. A summary of the above shows that there are 10 troops meeting in churches, one school troop and two community troops. None of the troops limit their membership to boys of any particular church denomination.

Troop 10 of the First Baptist church has a fine new American flag, the gift of several of the men of the church. They say they're going to have some boating gloves and a mat before long. When it comes to athletics, it is going to be hard to keep up with that bunch.

Troop 13 is contemplating the construction of a trek cart. The plans look good. We hope they hurry up and complete it, then we will have a way to carry blankets and tents on an overnight hike. The scoutmaster says his old group, back in Missouri, had dandy.

Another new troop is going to take up scouting within the next week. The headquarters for this one will be at the Orcott M. E. church. H. F. Lawrence, who has had some army experience is going to be the new scoutmaster. These fellows from the army sure see the great work of scouting and most of them are willing to give some of their time to such a great work.

A brand new charter for the local scout council arrived at headquarters this last week. Tulsa is rated as a class A council now that an executive is going to give all his time to the work. The charter will be framed and hung in the executive's office within a few days.

There are some mighty good stories in Boys' Life now. A big special offer to scouts will bring the scout magazine to you for seven months for only 50 cents. There are two big serials complete in these seven numbers besides numerous short stories that are worth while. Every scout should back the nation's magazine. Turn over money to your scoutmaster and let him send in the subscriptions of the entire troop.
